Course Description: An examination of the major themes of American history since 1890, the multicultural nature of contemporary U.S. civilization, and the nation’s role in the global arena.

Introduction: The primary focus of this course is to help students construct a meaningful and applicable understanding of the flow of key historical events in the U.S. and beyond from 1890 to the present, and how these events have affected and shaped conditions in which we live. This course is organized around the premise that learning in history survey courses should be active, meaningful, and challenging. Relevant historical problems and issues provide the context through which students construct meaning and apply knowledge and skills. Problem/issue-based activities allow students to make informed, reasoned decisions about important issues and events in U.S. history, while enhancing their skills of historical inquiry.

Learning Objectives: HIST 2112 satisfies one of Kennesaw State University’s general education program requirements. It addresses the US Perspectives learning outcome. The learning outcome states: Students identify the historical, political, social, or institutional developments of the United States. For more information about KSU’s General Education program requirements and associated learning outcomes, please visit http://catalog.kennesaw.edu/preview_program.php?catoid=10&poid=704

Student Outcomes: Students will:
1. construct a meaningful and applicable understanding of key historical events and issues in terms of cause and effect relationships and consequences (global and national);
2. recognize and integrate multiple perspectives and opinions regarding historical events and issues;
3. think critically and creatively in order to solve problems and make rational decisions;

Attendance Policy:
- Attend each class session and be participatory;
- One absence is allowed. After the first absence without a physician’s note or KSU activity excuse, 50 points (from a 1000 point total) will be deducted from your total grade for each additional absence.
- Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. Be on time! One unexcused absence will be assigned after the second tardy. Therefore, you could lose your allowed absence by being late to class 2 times; lose 50 points from your total grade by being late 4 times, and so forth. If you are tardy, it is your responsibility to see me after class so I may change the recorded absence to a tardy. If you fail to do so, the recorded absence may stand.

Electronic Devices Policy:
- Cell phones must be turned off during class. Please notify me prior to class if you are expecting an important call that must be answered. (BUZZ!)
- No cell phone or laptop use is allowed during exams. If a cell phone or similar device is discovered on a student during an exam, the student may be prohibited from completing the exam, and will receive no (zero) points.
- Laptop use is allowed only if directly related to class activities. Active engagement is critical for success in this course. If I suspect that your laptop is limiting your level of engagement or distracting other students, I will ask you to put it away.
- Any student who is disrespectful or who distracts from, or disrupts, our ability to complete any in-class activity will be asked to leave the class session and will be counted absent. Such behavior can affect the entire class negatively and may affect the offending student’s grade. The student will also need to schedule an appointment with me before attending another class session.

Grading Scale

Students are evaluated on the following scale:

A - (900 to 1000 points)
B - (800 to 899 points)
C - (700 to 799 points)
D - (600 to 699 points)

Incomplete grades are only valid after submission of the Incomplete Grade form (signed by both the instructor and student) to the Department Chair’s office.
Academic Honesty:
The high quality of education at Kennesaw State University is reflected in the credits and degrees its students earn. The protection of high standards of academic integrity is crucial since the validity and equity of the University's grades and degrees depend upon it.

No student shall receive, attempt to receive, knowingly give or attempt to give unauthorized assistance in the preparation of any work required to be submitted for credit (including examinations, laboratory reports, essays, themes, term papers, etc.). Unless specifically authorized, the presence and/or use of electronic devices during an examination, quiz, or other class assignment is considered cheating. Engaging in any behavior which a professor prohibits as academic misconduct in the syllabus or in class discussion is cheating. When direct quotations are used, they should be indicated, and when the ideas, theories, data, figures, graphs, programs, electronic based information or illustrations of someone other than the student are incorporated into a paper or used in a project, they should be duly acknowledged. No student may submit the same, or substantially the same, paper or other assignment for credit in more than one class without the prior permission of the current professor(s).

Students suspected of violating the KSU statement of Academic Honesty will meet with the instructor to discuss the violation AND will be reported to the Department of Student Conduct according to the process outlined at the following link:
https://web.kennesaw.edu/scai/content/scai-misconduct-procedures
